

Stability test results were poor in Taylor Fork on Friday. There is 2-1/2 feet of snow on the ground, and it's breaking in two spots: a foot under the surface on surface hoar, and sugary facets near the ground. Both broke at the same time; ECTP13. It will not take much snowfall to tip the scales towards avalanches. Photo: B. Nobel

Advisory Region
Southern Madison

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Sun Dec 13, 2015GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Mon Dec 14, 2015
Southern Madison, 2015-12-12