

A slab avalanche at the Yellowstone Club is indicative of the unstable conditions in the backcountry. This was human triggered on a 34 degree slope. It broke 2' deep, 150' wide and 100' vertical on facets above an crust near the ground. This is the same poor structure we are finding throughout our advisory area. Photo: Yellowstone Club Ski Patrol

Advisory Region
Northern Madison

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Tue Dec 13, 2016GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Fri Dec 16, 2016
Northern Madison, 2016-12-12